City, firemen reach tentative 4-year contract

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A tentative agreement on a four-year contract has been reached between the city and Firefighters' Local 253.

The agreement was reached Thursday at a meeting between union representatives and members of the city's negotiation committee, said 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke, committee chairman.

The agreement calls for a 4 percent raise retroactive to May 1, 1985, a 4 percent raise retroactive to May 1, 1986, a 3 percent raise effective May 1, 1987 and a 4 percent raise effective May 1, 1988.

THE CONTRACT will be up for renegotiation May 1, 1989, Hanke said.

An educational incentive, equivalent to college credit hours, is also included in the agreement, Hanke said.

Another provision of the proposed contract will incorporate the ambulance department into the fire department, making firefighters out of paramedics, Hanke said.

"This will provide greatly improved service to the residents of the city at a nominal increase in costs to the city," he said.

HANKE EXPECTS final wording of the contract to be made this weekend.

The firefighters' union has not ratified the contract, but is expected to vote on it Monday, said Local 253 President Charles Bernia.

"We have hammered out an agreement," he said. "We feel it is the best we can do at this time."

Meantime, members of Operating Engineers Local 525 ratified a four-year contract last Tuesday.

HOWEVER, the City Council deferred action at last Tuesday night's meeting because they had not received a copy of the contract before the meeting.

Hanke explained to the aldermen that he didn't have a final copy of the proposed contract ready until two hours before the meeting started.

That contract also offers a 4-4-3-4 percent pay increase over four years.

Hanke hopes both contracts can be voted on at this Tuesday's City Council meeting.

State administration head puzzled by board actions

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A recent confrontation between the School Board and Superintendent Max Redmond has state school administrators puzzled.

After the May 20 School Board meeting Board President Dewey Melton said Redmond was subjecting the board to public embarrassment by failing to recommend the board's choices for school positions.

JOHN WARGO, director of the Illinois Association of School Administrators, is puzzled by Melton's comments.

"I would do the same thing," Wargo said of Redmond's actions. "He (Redmond) is responsible for the operations of that school district."

Controversy arose when Redmond proposed hiring Gary Morgan, current vocational education department head, for the position of director of vocational education.

Instead, the board hired Thomas C. Holloway, who was vocational director from 1978 until 1984.

"The superintendent should recommend the best candidate for the position," Wargo said. "That doesn't mean the board has to go along with the choice."

"WHEN THE BOARD won't go along with the recommendation then you either make a second choice, or continue searching for the right person," he said. "The superintendent did not disagree with the second man. The board hired that man."

"To say he's embarrassed the district is wrong," he said.

Wargo cited three provisions of State Board Document 1 which govern the relationship between a school board and its superintendent. They are:

"The School Board shall make decisions after having received the advice of the district superintendent."

"The Board of Education shall hire school employees after hearing the recommendation of the district superintendent."

"The Board of Education shall carry out all professional and official relationships with school employees through the district superintendent."

Wargo pointed to a case in East St. Louis just a few years ago which involved District 180's decision to hire an assistant superintendent over the objections of Superintendent Leroy Duckworth.

In that case, the courts ruled the position was illegal because it had not been requested by the superintendent.

A JAN. 3 District 9 memorandum indicates that Redmond intended the vocational position to be a part of a newly-established position of director of secondary education.

Because the School Board decided otherwise, Wargo felt the East St. Louis case could be pertinent.

"The three things I gave you are regulatory law," said Wargo. "They are used to determine school district function with regard to state aid."

Wargo said superintendent-school board relations are a national problem.

"School board members are part-time members of the school staff," he said. "They can't be expected to know as much as the professionals they hire to run the schools."

"BOARD MEMBERS FEEL it is part of their function to get involved with all aspects of the school district, but that involvement can affect the function of the school district," he said.

"You don't want the employees to get the idea they can bypass the superintendent and take their problems to their favorite board member," Wargo said. "The quality of education in any school system is directly related to the superintendent."

Kokichi Hagiwara has been nominated as the new president and chief operating officer of National Steel Corp., succeeding Robert D. McBride.

McBride is retiring after 30 years, including 21 years here. He is a former president of Granite City Steel, one of National's three major divisions along with Great Lakes Steel and Midwest Steel, and at various times led each of the three divisions.

MCBRIDE BECAME president of National Steel in May 1983.

The corporation on Friday announced the proposed promotion of Hagiwara, who is a senior managing director and a member of the board of directors of Nippon Kokan K.K., Japan.

City pool leaks

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Wilson Park swimming pool is losing three to five inches of water a day, said Park Director Steve Kessel.

Kessel estimates the leak, or leaks, are costing the district $55 per day.

"That isn't counting evaporation, people getting in and out of the pool, cleaning the filters or the bottom," Kessel said.

"We're monitoring the situation very closely," he said. "The pool is safe. We're able to maintain safety standards. We just want to make sure nothing can happen."

The pool began its 46th year of operation May 24. Prior to opening the facility, Kessel and his staff caulked and painted the pool area.

Though customary precautions were taken to contain the water, approximately 28,000 gallons of water is lost every day.

Artist's world is in her painting

ALTON — Birds, flowers and a child's shoes are parts of Lucille Butler's world. And it's this world she reflects in her paintings.

A "one-woman show" of 25 of Butler's more than 300 watercolor paintings ends today at the Alton Museum of History and Art. The show will be open from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Sunday focus

A Granite City native, Butler started her career as an artist early in life.

"I WAS DRAWING since the time I was a toddler," she said while looking at her paintings on exhibit.

Her first drawings were profiles of her father and grandfather. They were the only ones who would sit still long enough for her to draw them, she said.

She later started painting with oil paints before going to watercolors, she said.

Her early work in painting was self-taught, Butler said, but she had the desire to do more with it. "If GOD GAVE ME the talent," she said, "I've got to do something with it."

After her son was old enough to take care of himself, Butler began to take lessons. She studied with artists James Godwin Scott, Arthur Towata, Christal Jackson and Carole Meyers.

"I learn something from each

The City Council on Monday authorized Mayor Leonard Davis to reduce the number of aldermanic committees from 17 to 8. The move was made after hearing a report by Dr. Seymour Mann, SIUE director of metropolitan affairs. Mann also developed a master sewer and drainage plan for the city.

Requests school board members resign

To the editor:

Recent newspaper articles regarding the actions of our school board reflect unfavorably on the citizens of our community as well as our school system.

It is felt that for the good of the entire community, the school board members should voluntarily relinquish their positions, and that the end of his tenure for Dr. Desmond continues to have problems with a new board / that his contract should not be renewed.

It is requested that each educator do their part without jeopardizing their employment to the public is made aware that the general citizenry does not accept the blatant disregard for common sense and fair play that have been pointed out in recent newspaper actions.

The article from the Granite City Journal front page of May 28, 1986, is extremely interesting in that the question is posed whether school teachers should be required to meet minimum competency standards on an annual basis.

I am not aware of any major problem that has been caused by a teacher in the Granite City school system with regard to competency.

cy. I am, however, aware of the miserable condition of the Granite City board, and therefore believe that the question would better be put: "Should school board members be required to meet minimum competency standards on an annual basis?" The shame and embarrassment that school board members have brought to our community in recent months is unconscionable.

Teachers and students in this school district should be commended for their display of self-discipline and dedication in the midst of the controversy. It must be difficult for educators to open school each morning.

The actions of the school board directly affect each citizen, student and teacher in this district. As part of our Code of Ethics, we operate as "parents patriae" (in place of their parents), and in doing so we must act in a manner that gives our students the same good training and social values that they would receive from their parents.

Considering for a moment that curriculum and the social values should filter down from the top, it doesn't give us much hope when school board members have used the education system for a political battleground.

Very few board members have the slightest idea of what education is about yet continue to make policy on a day-to-day basis rather than accept their role in an advisory capacity.

Some recent promotions reek with political overtones that discount the intelligence of the average taxpayer, and it is important that laboring citizens in this community know that they have a voice in the manner in which their school system operates.

As educators, it is important that we unite for our protection as well as the good of the citizens of this community.

At this time, it is recommended that a discreet discussion of controversial issues with friends and neighbors and encourage interested parties to send letters of resignation to the school board members. This will avoid further embarrassment to our community of petitions asking for their resignations.

CITIZENS AND EDUCATORS

Granite City's laws are not being uniformly enforced

To the editor:

After attending many council meetings, I have come to the opinion that our city is not always governed by ordinance but by the personal likes or dislikes of certain aldermen.

At the May 27 meeting, a motion was made to concur with the recommendation of the planning commission to allow a mobile home on 23rd Street.

But apparently Paul Fisk does not like mobile homes. So after making a veiled threat, the other aldermen fell in line and denied the motion. As usual, Sam Whitmer was not intimidated. I would not live in a mobile home myself, but if a person meets the requirements set by ordinance, shouldn't he be allowed to enjoy his own life style?

On another occasion, the proposed development of the Fehling Road area was discussed.

A spokesman for a group of residents of that area presented their concerns about the development. Shortly after, the spokesman was appointed an alderman.

I am not sure if this was a reward or a punishment, but nevertheless no mention of the ordinance has been made recently.

Alderman Fisk made the remark that he understood that a lot of people in Granite City would be happy to get even a low-paying job.

Granite City is made up of different kinds of people, the rich, the poor, and the in-between, and we should all be allowed to function as individuals without our elected officials trying to force their life style on others, just because they believe they have been elected to save us from our sins.

It is very difficult to hear the proceedings at the council meetings.

Despite repeated requests, arrangements have not been made to correct the problem. To the best of my knowledge, this is a correct account.

Farm grains to fuel?

By Paul Harvey

The big Indianapolis race reminds us again that race cars have been running pollution free, more efficiently and more safely for 13 years now with only alcohol in the gas tank.

Consider this alongside the plight of our overly productive American farms and the logical question becomes, "Why not convert farm grains into fuel?"

If we refuse to face that question until the oil runs out, the sheriff then may have chased the last farmer off his farm.

Steve Symms was an Idaho farmer before he was a United States senator.

His homefolks have been urging him to expand the market for farm produce, however. Especially, they say, why not get going on production of grain alcohol for car fuel?

So Sen. Symms called together experts from the departments of energy and agriculture for counsel.

Some interesting revelations came out of that meeting.

Nineteen eighty-eight is just 18 months away. That is when the Environmental Protection Agency will ban the use of any and all leaded gasoline.

When you take the lead out, the most cost-efficient and best way to put the pep back into gasoline is by adding alcohol.

We are already using a lot of this mix (ethanol), 780 million gallons last year. But that's for less than 110 million gallons of that were "imported."

That, as the Japanese would say, is like "shipping sake to Napa."

And worse, some of the countries are able to ship cheaper alcohol to us because their agriculture is subsidized by our government!

So, as I say, we are already using some ethanol and by 1988 we can be using a lot more.

But during this discussion with knowledgeable, candid scholars in this subject, it was learned that the production of ethanol also spins off some byproducts or "co-products."

If waxy barley is used for the substrate for producing ethanol, you can harvest bran and oil and protein meal.

The bran is a bran that's good to eat and good for you and the oil is a kind of oil which tends to counteract cholesterol.

The protein meal could be fed to livestock, cats and hatchery fish.

So, Sen. Symms has asked the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress to consider this updated information.

If farmers no longer have the "numbers" to influence official Washington, maybe farm products can.

Statue of Liberty renovation spotlights freedom

To the editor:

A good way to judge a true democracy is how well it provides freedom of choice.

Some of the first liberties taken away, or never given, by police agencies is the citizen's right to make his own choice about his personal life. Examples are restriction of travel in Russia and, more importantly, decisions about health care.

In America, we have the freedom to select whatever doctor we want, whatever discipline we want, whatever health care facility we like, and even have the privilege to get a second and third opinion. And that's good for your health.

This reflects on the quality of health services you get in the U.S.A. Nobody should dictate who will treat your body, which should be the citizen's personal decision.

That's why most people are more selective nowadays about who they pick to treat their health problems and guide them in a constructive health program. In this respect, millions are choosing chiropractic because the doctor of chiropractic does not utilize potentially harmful drugs or medications. Chiropractic is a natural health care method.

To herald the importance of freedom of choice, cooperating doctors of chiropractic throughout the U.S. are contributing to the rehabilitation of the Statue of Liberty. For every patient visit, $1 is being contributed by cooperating doctors in the patient's name for the repair of this monument of freedom.

Chiropractors feel very comfortable participating in a fund to treat this Lady of Liberty for structural problems, since chiropractic is dedicated to correct posture and health.

Mountain music is mighty melodious

I wouldn't trade America for the world. That's a popular musical selection these days in southern Missouri's Ozark mountains, near Arkansas. The booming area in some ways rivals Nashville's country and western music dominance.

Mix in "America the Beautiful," "Dixie" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and you have the formula for great patriotic finales at dozens of theaters, arenas and music halls.

Tried-and-true formats that regularly attract big crowds also include gospel songs, brass (but clean) comedians, guitars of all kinds, fiddlers, pretty girls and, yes, a full range of country and western tunes — and frequent opportunities for audiences to sing along and to clap their hands and stomp their feet to the beat of drums and a bass viol. One of the 1986 shows also offers an outstanding yodeler, David Bradley.

Although I used to be called Billy I'm not from the hills. So why do I bring up the subject of "hillbilly music?"

A. Many Granite Citizens enjoy vacationing in the Branson area, where both the city streets and country roads have roller-coaster climbs and turns.

B. The Foggy River boys, who sometimes perform in Granite City, are appearing each evening in Branson, where their theater also is the scene of afternoon shows by the Sons of the Pioneers.

C. My family spent a week in May at nearby Kimberling City. D. Although I'm more attuned to city than rural life, and although I appreciate such singers as Sinatra, Carole King, Stevie Nicks, Sarah Vaughan, Eric Mills and the late Nat "King" Cole, I also like Willie Nelson, who is in this summer's schedule of Branson entertainment.

Already performing there in 1986, Roy Clark operates the Roy Clark Theatre in Branson and schedules other musicians and singers there when he is not in town.

We were fortunate to attend on May 23 the opening night — a brand-new Branson amphitheater, about two-thirds the size of St. Louis' Municipal Opera, Ratin threatened but did not fall as we and thousands of others heard Reba McEntyre, 1985 U.S. country-western female vocalist of the year.

The region also is noted for a 1960-vintage outdoor theater where 75 native Ozarkians — plus hundreds of nightly re-enactments of the most widely-read stories in publishing history, "The Shepherd of the Hills."

Three million people have viewed the performance. We missed that show but saw a fascinating one highlighting the life of the "Shepherd of the Hills" author, Harold Bell Wright.

Three miles away, and we the rain didn't miss Silver Dollar City. This simulated pioneer settlement keeps alive traditional Ozark crafts and has added many rides to help it compete with such parks as Six Flags.

Silver Dollar City also features a nightly outdoor concert by the Dixieland Band, and on the recent "Return to Mayberry" television special.

Other attractions include countless fishing sites, an outstanding water show, choreographed to music; vast oak and walnut forests; and Cinema 180, a wrap-around movie screen that enables one to fly beneath the Gateway Arch not once but three times as well as touring the Grand Canyon.

Also in the same region are Table Rock Dam and Lake; Lake Taneycomo, where there are cruises on the Lake Queen and "pirate ship" encounters aboard the Sammy Lane; and Eureka Springs (Ark.), where there was an arts and crafts fair in progress, and where there are Passion Play presentations for six of the 12 months.

As might be expected in Midwestern Missouri, the cold weather and hazardous driving hamper the resort area. Most business places are closed throughout the winter.

But as long as it is warm, there is almost as much guitar-picking going on in Branson and environs than in Nashville, Tenn. Some recording studios are based in Branson and there are many others in Springfield, Mo.

The Ozarks no longer are a wilderness but they retain much of their appeal from past frontier days. One of the frontier traditions, bountiful meals, gladdens hearty eaters but is bad news for dieters.

The tradition that may deserve the most credit for the Ozark mountain area's tourism success is friendliness.

Even nationally-known entertainers, when appearing at Branson, go into the audience during intermissions or after their shows to meet and talk with their fans.

Stars and would-be stars have even been known to sign an autograph on their latest record album or photo book that you might have, by sheer coincidence, just bought from the handy cession stand.

If you'd like to test their friendliness, try a visit to Branson on June 13 (Johnny Lee), June 20 (Waylon Jennings), July 4 (Ronnie Milsap), July 11 (Tom T. Hall), July 18 (Ricky Skaggs), July 25 (Janie Fricke), Aug. 8 (Conway Twitty), Aug. 22 (Michael Martin Murphy), Aug. 30 (Tammy Wynette), Aug. 31 (The Greenwoods), Sept. 5 (Donnie and Marie Osmond), Sept. 13 (Shelly West) or Sept. 27 (Earl Thomas Conley).

No, Frank Sinatra won't be there this year.

Our policies on graduations, scholarships

This is the time of year when the newspaper is deluged with requests to print photos and stories about those who have graduated and/or received scholarships.

To deal with the number of requests, we drafted a policy that lasted about three days.

The policy was meant to provide equal space for equal accomplishments. We also wanted to avoid the repetitious nature of graduation information that, by volume, could block out news of interest to a greater number of readers. The policy caused problems rather than progress.

Some who were told their child's photo wouldn't be printed argued something along this line:

"Graduation is one of the milestones in a person's life and, unlike a wedding or engagement, it's seldom cancelled."

The staff revised the policy. Those who argued that under the old rules that vary from the new can resubmit items under what, we believe, a fairer policy.

The following is our revised policy:

Grad & Scholar Policy

High School or Earlier Grads: We will not print photos or stories about local grads, other than class photos provided by the schools. If a local resident graduates from a private school outside this area, we will print that graduate's photo and provide equity with those who've graduated locally.

All College Graduates: We will run a photo of the graduate, and only the following information: Name of graduate, name of parents, home address, type of degree, major, place employed, name of high school and year of high school graduation.

Scholarships: A high school student who receives a scholarship covering at least a full year of tuition, or a student who has received two or more scholarships, will receive a photo and the following information: Name of student, parent's names, home address, type and amount of scholarship, college to be attended, name of high school and year of graduation. Students who receive smaller scholarships will have only the information printed.

Reference: The foregoing policy is based on having all of the information available. If the maximum amount of information is not provided, we will print only what we have.

Pets' lives can be short

To the editor:

Tootsie, a chihuahua, was our dog. She was our pet, she was our friend; she was our baby!

She never hurt anyone or anything. When I talked to my brother, she would get really jealous and bark.

She was real little. She was just like a baby. She was the greatest; she was the best dog in the world!

It isn't fair that she had to die because of man's mistakes. It isn't at all fair. We miss her so much, and wish we could see her again running, barking, playing with us all.

She was just like a human being. She was very smart and she deserved more than she got. She had to die because our house caught on fire. If we would have been home, people say, we all would have died. But we wouldn't have, because Tootsie would wake us up barking at us.

But nobody was there for her. My mother, me and my brother were gone Saturday, May 17. At 8:45, our house caught on fire and, our little Tootsie died.

I would give anything in the world to have her back with us. But I know she is gone. We will never, ever, forget her.

I'm sorry this had to happen. Tootsie will be in our hearts forever. Those who have a pet, love it every minute, for us.

More money allocated to help area programs

Tri-Cities Area United Way is allocating an additional $11,225 for new programs to area residents. The announcement was made by Eric Robertson, president of the United Way board of directors. Robertson said additional money to fund new programs had been set aside from the 1985 campaign proceeds.

The funds are distributed through Venture Grants, limited grants for innovation. Human service agencies submit proposals requesting money to fund programs which will meet documented needs in our community," Robertson said.

The Venture Grants respond to changing needs of the community, supplementing the programs already provided by United Way agencies. The grants are available to these agencies and agencies which do not receive United Way funding on an ongoing basis.

Proposals are screened by a team of United Way volunteers who make recommendations for funding to the executive committee of the United Way Board.

Joni Karandjeff, committee chairperson, reported the volunteers were pleased with the proposals for funding submitted to United Way.

"Determining the best use of the funds contributed to United Way is never an easy task. Requests for funding always exceed the amount of money available, but the Venture Grants provide for additional services and stretch the United Way dollars even further," Karandjeff said.

The program was initiated in 1985 for the purpose of expanding services funded by United Way. Seven local agencies are being awarded Venture Grants this year.

Alpha Center for Women received a grant for $550 to begin a program of loaning necessary equipment to new mothers who leave Alpha Center after their babies are born. The program will help these women toward a new beginning for themselves and their babies.

Children's Home & Aid Society was awarded a grant of $4,500 to develop subsidized employment related day care for Granite City children.

The agency will provide subsidized day care for the children of parents in need of day care in order to take a job or return to school in order to become more employable.

The Department of Children and Family Services has identified Granite City as one of the geographic areas most in need of subsidized day care and has made dollars available for these services. The grant from United Way will assist in offsetting the cost of developing this program.

Co-ordinated Youth Services is receiving a Venture Grant for $1,500 to assist local agencies in the development of grant writing skills. Through a series of workshops, agencies will be taught how to apply to other funding sources such as private foundations and government grants.

Five hundred dollars is being awarded to Granite City Junior Service Club to provide additional funding for the purchase of eye glasses for school-aged children from underprivileged families. All fund raising activities of Junior Service Club toward this assistance program. More children will receive glasses because of the grant from United Way.

Tri-City Area YMCA received a $1,175 grant to provide scholarship to send 30 low-income children from the Quad-City Area to camp at the Belleville YMCA camp.

The Senior Aides Program of Belleville Area College was awarded $2,000 to help offset the loss of financial support from local municipalities due to discontinuing Revenue Sharing Funds. The Senior Aides Program helps older persons find meaningful part-time employment in not-for-profit agencies. Through on-the-job training, older persons upgrade their skills and return to unsubsidized employment in the private sector.

Phoenix Crisis Center, an agency serving victims of domestic violence, was given $1,000 to expand its telephone hot line service. Due to the tremendous response from abused women and children since the safe house was opened in 1985, the one telephone hot line was no longer sufficient to accommodate the volume of clients served.

Volunteers involved in the screening, recommendations and awarding of the Venture Grants included Joni Karandjeff, Joe Hassler, Tom Majewski, George Moore, Marie Robertson, Linda Smith, Eric Robertson, Jack Lee, Elmer Wortham, Ben Johannpeter, Bob Glick, Don Shaffner, Darryl Slater, Jimmy Tuetken, Dennis Orsey, Mary Jessee, David Kins and Elinor Null.

Cancer Society honor volunteers

During the quarterly Board of Directors meeting of the Quad-City Unit of the American Cancer Society held at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, eight volunteer drivers were accorded honors for their assistance.

The honorees, using their own cars, pick up cancer patients at their home and drive them to treatment centers for therapy.

Sister Mary Louis Moser is chairman of the unit and Linda Irwin serves as Service and Rehabilitation chairman.

Those honored were Myra Skinner, Joe Lucido, Bill and Pat Seibold, Howard and Eva Johannigmeier, LaVern Bailey.

More volunteers are needed to continue the aid to cancer victims, the chairman said. Anyone who is interested in becoming an aide to the patients are advised to call 877-6501 for further information.

Senator praises GC sewer grant

State Sen. Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, has praised inclusion of Granite City in the first year of Build Illinois funds.

Vadala sponsored the measure in the Illinois Senate last year.

"The project is scheduled to begin in June 1986," Vadala said. "Under the program, Granite City will receive $500,000 for sewer repairs and rehabilitation. The project should be completed by January 1987."

"Approximately half of the appropriation will be used for design engineering expenses related to a $10 million sewer rehabilitation project," Vadala said.

"Many of our sewer and wastewater systems are old and outdated. This funding will help bring them up to standard and start Granite City on the way to this multi-million-dollar improvement."

"Such projects are important to the economic development of an area. Our Build Illinois infrastructure program, which includes sewers and wastewater treatment systems, is a key part to the economic growth and development of an area."

"When Chrysler and Mitsubishi were looking at Illinois as a location for their car plant, this is one of the criteria they established. It was our good fortune to get the plant."

"That does not mean our commitment to our infrastructure program ends with that. Other companies and industries are looking at Illinois as a future location. Our continued commitment to infrastructure upgrading is a clear signal to them that Illinois has its eye on the future."

Ubaudi promoted by Bauer firm

John A. Ubaudi has been promoted to vice president of operations of Bauer Brothers Construction Co. Inc., announced John H. Bauer, president of the Belleville firm. Ubaudi will be responsible for all estimating, development and management of the firm's construction projects.

He recently joined Bauer Bros. as manager for the Light Commercial Division. Ubaudi has 36 years of experience in the construction industry. He started out as a carpenter apprentice in Collinsville, later headed the Carpenters union based here, and for the last two years was executive vice president of L. Wolf Co., a Granite City general contractor.

Bauer Bros. is a 91-year-old general construction firm which provides design-build and construction management services. Market Place Shopping Center and the Winchester Place Apartments are two major projects now under construction by Bauer in Fairview Heights.

State officials monitoring School Board controversy

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Officials from the State Board of Education say they have been receiving complaints about the conduct of the District 9 Board of Education.

"I've been receiving complaints from citizens," said Noeno Lietz, manager of public school approval for the Illinois Board of Education.

"I will continue to monitor the situation," Lietz said.

Referring to the relationship between the School Board and Superintendent Max Redmond, Lietz said District 9 is "getting very close to a violation of the law."

"Unless the superintendent or a member of the board comes forward, we have no way to get involved," Lietz said.

An article published May 14 in the Press-Record/Journal mentioned American Federation of Teachers Local 743 Secretarial Council President Lela Guenther's reaction to recent secretarial hirings by the Board of Education.

After the article was published Guenther said she received a visit from School Board President Jesse Melton.

That visit conflicts with school codes set forth in State Board Document 1, which requires the Board of Education to carry out all professional and official relationships with school employees through the district superintendent.

"Occasionally, we have a School Board which tends to try and run around the superintendent," Lietz said. "We met with three school boards last year on similar matters."

"The administration of the schools should be left up to the superintendent," Lietz said.

"It's best if they can resolve it without outside intervention," he said. "I hope the situation does not deteriorate to where it reflects on the quality of education."

St. Elizabeth Auxiliary awards scholarships

The St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary has awarded $10,050 in scholarships to 30 area students studying at the college or postgraduate level in health-related fields. The recipients and their parents were the dinner guests of the auxiliary at its general membership meeting held last week at the medical center.

Beginning in 1960 with the award of one scholarship, the program has grown to a record high this year. The outstanding scholastic records of the applicants, coupled with increased tuition cost and cutbacks in federal grants, prompted the auxiliary to increase its commitment this year.

Scholarship payments are made only to the school of the recipient's choice, with no direct payment to the honoree. Joyce Toussaint, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, works independently of the auxiliary organization.

"All communication between the applicants and my committee is confidential. We review background material and transcripts; on these criteria we decide the awards. There is no input from any other source," said Mrs. Toussaint.

Of the recipients, six are 1986 Granite City High School graduates, 14 are renewals at the college or postgraduate levels, and 10 are first-time college applicants.

They are enrolled at 13 colleges in the fields of: nursing, 12; medical school, two; dental school, one; pharmacology, six; radiological technician, one; medical records, one; physical therapy, four; medical technologist, one; clinical psychologist, one; and social services, one.

Steel company names Hagiwara

The world's fifth largest steelmaking firm, Nippon Kokan owns half of National Steel. The other half is owned by National Intergroup Inc., Pittsburgh, which has said it will sell its portion in several years.

Hagiwara's appointment must be approved at NKK stockholders' meeting June 27 and at meetings in early July of National Steel's stockholders and board of directors.

PENDING THE APPROVAL of the stockholders and boards of NKK and National Steel, Hagiwara will relocate to National's Pittsburgh headquarters. It is anticipated he will begin his duties in mid-July.

Now 62, Hagiwara joined Nippon Kokan in 1950 after receiving a metallurgical engineering degree from Tokyo University.

He worked in the metallurgical and research areas at NKK's Fukuyama and Keihin Works until 1970, when he moved to Kokan's headquarters in Tokyo as assistant general manager of steel technology and engineering.

He was named the general manager of iron and steel technology in 1976 and was appointed to the NKK board in 1978.

In 1982, Hagiwara was promoted to managing director, and he became a senior managing director in 1984. He was named head of the engineering division of NKK in 1985.

During the past few years, Hagiwara has also been responsible for Nippon Kokan's portion of a joint venture that has constructed a major steel mill for the government of Egypt.

The recently announced Office of the President of National Steel will continue to operate as a resource for Hagiwara, providing information, analyses and recommendations on key decisions.

"I'm in my own world," Butler said. When she's painting, she has to stand over her work, which is hard on her back, she said. Sometimes, she doesn't notice the pain.

"It's his how involved I get with my painting," she said. THE IDEAS of her paintings are sometimes simple. But, her works show hidden meanings. Many of Previous test borings have proven inconclusive. Engineering reports have found little evidence of structural erosion in the past, Kessel said.

"I want to get down there and see for myself," said George Sykes, president of the pool. Last year, the pool entertained 21,684 visitors. The pool showed profits of $25,299 last year.

An anticipated loss of $1,655 in water would equal roughly 22 percent of the pool's annual profit.

Office of the President is made up of Howard M. "Pete" Love, chairman of National Steel and NII and a past Granite City Steel president; Sosuke Doi, National Steel executive vice president, and Stanley C. Elzemann, National Steel senior vice president.

IN A RELATED MOVE, Haruki Kamaya, executive vice president of NKK and vice chairman of the board of National Steel Corp., resigned to become chairman of other Nippon Kokan subsidiaries.

The joint venture, under which National Steel is owned equally by NII and NKK, was formed in September 1984.

Nippon Kokan is Japan's second largest steelmaker as well as being the fifth biggest steel company in the world.

KOKAN is a PIONEER in various steelmaking technologies and also is a leader in engineering, construction and shipbuilding.

The Tokyo-based company has two other American interests: International Light Metals Corp., a joint venture with Martin Marietta Corp., and The Great Western Silicon plant in Chandler, Ariz.

International Light Metals will produce titanium and aluminum alloy extrusion and forging products. Great Western is a facility purchased from General Electric Corp. that produces high-purity polycrystalline silicon.

AT PRESENT there are 31 former Nippon Kokan personnel working for National Steel, 13 at National's Pittsburgh headquarters and 18 at the three steelmaking divisions.

McBride, 58, announced his resignation as president of National Steel would be effective immediately, it was announced May 22 in Pittsburgh.

A spokesman said, "During the past three decades, Bob has made an outstanding contribution to National Steel Corp. and Granite City Steel (which was acquired by National Steel in 1971).

HE HAS HELPED position the company to realize its goal of becoming a world-class steel producer. All of us at National wish him every success as he pursues other interests."

McBride was GC Steel president until 1977, when he was named president of Great Lakes Steel, a larger steel plant in the Detroit area. He was made president of both Great Lakes and Midwest Steel, the latter located in the Chicago area, in January 1982.

In September 1982, when National Steel reorganized and created a wholly-owned Steel Group, he was named executive vice president for operations and moved from Michigan to Pittsburgh.

In that post, he was responsible for cost, quality and service programs of the group and directed the activities of the Great Lakes, Weirton (later sold), Granite City and Midwest divisions in addition to group engineering, energy and environmental functions.

McBride in May 1983 moved up to the Steel Group's presidency. When NII was formed, he advanced to the title of president of National Steel Corp. and continued in that role after NKK became half-owner.

A 1950 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, he served a six-year tour of duty as an Army officer, qualifying for both Airborne and Ranger operations.

He served in combat in Korea in 1952 with a guerrilla unit that made raids on the South Korean mainland from island bases in the Yellow Sea.

CITED OFTEN FOR VALOR, he earned the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Army Commendation Ribbon.

After his assignments in Korea, McBride served two years at the United Nations command in Tokyo.

When honorably discharged, he joined Granite City Steel in 1956 as an industrial engineer. He reached the rank of major in the Army Reserve.

From engineering, he moved to steel operations as a turn foreman on the North Plant's No. 5 galvanizing line and advanced through the ranks to other positions before becoming GC Steel's operations vice president in 1966.

His promotions included assistant general foreman of galvanizing in 1959, assistant to the division superintendent of rolling and finishing in 1961, division superintendent in 1963 and assistant to the vice president of operations in 1965.

HE WAS NAMED assistant general manager of operations in February 1966, vice president of operations in May 1966 and GC Steel vice president and general manager in January 1975.

McBride became president of Granite City Steel in January 1976. He has served as president of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers and graduated from the Harvard Business School's Advanced Management Program.

McBRIDE WAS ACTIVE in the Granite City Rotary Club and Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

In February 1977 he accepted the role of general campaign chairman of the next Tri-Cities Area United Way drive, but was transferred to Great Lakes before the drive began.

Weber says probe led to judiciary

Former Madison County state's attorney Don W. Weber testified Tuesday he has had no direct involvement in the prosecution of an assessment reduction case since Special Prosecutor Bruce D. Locher was appointed in 1984. He also voiced criticism of the judiciary.

Weber said he and Locher had discussed the case on several occasions and said he once suggested a pleading to Locher, but that Locher chose not to follow his suggestions.

"I made a lot of my feelings known to Mr. Locher, but he didn't respond to them," Weber testified.

Weber's testimony came during the fifth day of a hearing in Edwardsville on motions by five of six defendants to dismiss charges against them or appoint a new special prosecutor to replace Locher.

Among other things the defendants allege Weber has continued to have a role in the case despite a judge's order that he not be involved. Weber testified earlier he was never barred from contact with Locher.

The defendants allege they have been denied due process of law by a continuing pattern of prosecutorial misconduct.

Locher, a Springfield lawyer, was appointed in 1984 pursuant to authorization by the Illinois Supreme Court. He has remained in the post despite efforts by the defendants and the present Madison County state's attorney's office to obtain his ouster.

James W. Barton, former county supervisor of assessments, and five others are charged with participating in a "scheme to reduce assessments in return for contributions to a fund set up to help Barton defend earlier, unrelated criminal charges. Barton was recently convicted of two counts of bribery and one of conspiracy to commit bribery in the older case. Weber testified he never asked Locher to return indictments before the November 1984 election in which Weber was defeated in a re-election bid. He also said he never requested that Locher seek additional charges against the six defendants or others.

Weber said he believed and continues to believe that local judges should not be involved in the case because "the investigation was leading back to the judiciary."

He said there were indications of links between some judges and defendants and that he thought that, whether the allegations were true or not, the local judges should not have been involved. "I am very critical of them being in this investigation at all," Weber said.

Weber said he met with then-assistant state's attorney Marshall "Zek" Smith and Ben Allen, who represents defendants Merle Bassett and Robert Quinn, in June 1984, before any indictments were returned.

Weber said the result of the meeting was "an agreement to make an agreement, if we could" to resolve pending issues. The issues included expected criminal charges against some defendants and charges against Weber, which had been dismissed but were then on appeal.

Such an agreement might have included Barton's resignation and heavy fines for some defendants, Weber said.

Weber said Ben Allen knew he and Smith had no authority to negotiate, since Locher was the special prosecutor.

No agreement to dispose of the matters was ever reached, Weber testified.

He also testified he was "livid" when he learned Smith had dismissed charges against Walter "Shang" Greathouse, charged in connection with the earlier case against Barton. Weber was on vacation when the charges were dismissed.

He said Smith had no authority to dismiss the charges, but said he later understood how Smith mistakenly believed he had the authority.

Weber said he had once remarked to Smith: "Why don't you see what you can do to straighten this mess out?"

Weber said Smith offered to resign when they later discussed the matter.

8-YEAR-OLD BICYCLIST HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

John E. Foley, 6 years old, 2905 Dale Ave., was injured May 23 when his bicycle was struck by a car in the 3000 block of Dale Avenue.

The child was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was riding north on the sidewalk and crossed a driveway apron into the roadway, the boy said.

JOHNNY'S MOVIES TO GO 3820 PONTIAC RD. GRANITE CITY, I

Jr. Legion set for 3rd year

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Summer-time means holiday time for many high school students. However, there is more work ahead for many of the members of Granite City High School's baseball team. The beginning of summer vacation also signals the start of the American Legion baseball season, and the Granite City Optimists' Junior Legion team begins its third season of play Wednesday with a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Troy.

The Optimists are sponsoring the team this year after Kelly Hogan Plumbing handled the task each of the first two seasons. The team was 18-6 last season and Paul Kacera returns for his third season as manager. He will be assisted by Carl Benson and Marty LeVault.

Kacera is losing five players from last year's 18-6 team, but he is hoping he has enough left to have another big year.

"We don't have a set lineup worked out yet," he said. "We'll probably have several players who will play many different positions."

Nine players return from the 1985 squad, including Darin Hendrickson, Mike Gorgeff, Tim Patterson, Dave Bamber, Randy Chapman, Jay Valbert, Rich

Wilson, Charlie Collins and Scott LeVault.

LeVault, 6-0 for the Warrior baseball team this past season, will split time between the Junior and senior Legion teams.

On the infield, Kacera plans to use Collins, who led the team in hitting last year, Patterson, Hendrickson, Kirk Mills (from this year's sophomore team at GCHS) and LeVault, who will play some at first base and also pitch.

Outfield candidates include Wilson, Mike Lane, Georgeff, Jerry Thompson and Chapman.

The catching duties will be split between Bamber and Chapman. Kacera expects his pitching to

Dahm out as GCC wrestling coach

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — Saying "sometimes you just have to make a decision like this," Norm Dahm has resigned his post as head wrestling coach at Granite City Campus.

"The decision was really both personal and professional," Dahm said. "I'm getting married and I want to devote full time to my graduate studies."

Dahm will be wed June 21 and plans to continue his studies at SIU-Edwardsville towards his master's degree.

He currently teaches in the biology department at Belleville East High School.

"With all that going on in my life, I just had to make a decision," Dahm said. "I had to set some priorities, and wrestling wasn't part of it for right now."

A native of Millstadt, Dahm was the third wrestling coach at GCC in the last three years. He succeeded Walt Whitaker, now the varsity coach at Granite City High School.

Dahm came to GCC from SIU-Edwardsville, where he was an assistant to Larry Kristoff. The Cougars had won two straight NCAA Division II national championships.

"Like any program in its first years, it was a struggle," Dahm said. "But at the same time we also had some good points."

One was the performance of Eric Ruffo, a 158-pounder. A former Texas high school state champion, Ruffo compiled a 36-4 season record and qualified for the national junior college tournament.

"It was kind of sad the way it ended," Dahm said. "He had a bad tournament and did place. But he had beaten six of the top eight finishers during the regular season."

Another wrestler who enjoyed some success was Jeff Cotter of Granite City. As a senior, Cotter placed sixth in the state at 99 pounds.

Cotter has since earned a berth on the Junior Pan-American team wrestling at 105 pounds.

"He beat the guy that was on last year's team in the mini-tournament," Dahm said.

The Junior Pan-Am team will wrestle in June and July.

Currently, GCC officials will be taking applications to fill the vacancy left by Dahm's departure. The position is a part-time one.

"Norm did a good job while he was here," said Terry Collins, athletic director at GCC. "But the position was just part-time and then there was the commuting from Belleville. All those things, I know, were a factor in his decision."

Collins is hopeful a replacement can be found as quickly as possible.

"We would like to get some stability in our (wrestling) program," Collins said. "We've had three coaches in the last three years."

Cards playing like 'dead birds'

The fare-weather and even fare-weather fans have been doing a lot of squawking about the play of the baseball Cardinals.

The defending National League champions are playing like the Dead Birds; they show no life whatsoever.

As of Thursday's off day, the Cardinals were mired in the bottom of the NL East standings, 14 1/2 games behind the Mets and 10 games under .500.

What's even worse is that their 16-26 record (a .381 winning percentage) is second only to the Seattle Mariners, as being the worst in the major leagues.

The Cardinals need to wake up, and fast.

Early in May, when the club was struggling, I remained optimistic. After all, last year it wasn't until May 26 that the team reached .500.

I thought the hitting drought would end and the Birds would turn it around. But, hey, it's past Memorial Day — baseball's first traditional marking post — and things haven't changed.

At their present pace, the Red Birds could reach a new low in the team's history. In 1908, the Cards finished at 32-101. In 1913, they were 51-99. That was the last time in the history of the franchise the team's won-loss percentage dropped below .400. They haven't finished last since 1918, and have only finished in the cellar six times in their illustrious history.

The Cardinals have hit the skids by not hitting and by playing shaky defense, at best. When spring training began, hitting and defense were the team's so-called strengths.

Bill Veeck: The man with all the right ideas

Bill Veeck, the legendary man with a million or more ideas to promote the game of baseball, cut his eyeteeth around his dad's office at Wrigley Field, where Bill Sr. owned the Chicago Cubs.

When you thought his latest promotional gimmick was the ultimate in a long list of great, fan-pleasing ideas, weeks later he'd come through with one to top all the rest.

I first met the fun loving ex-marine in 1949, or at the time when he took over the late and dearly beloved St. Louis Browns. Shortly after he bought the Browns, the Cardinals were bought by Gusie Busch, and Veeck immediately saw the handwriting on the wall and sold the club to interests determined to bring baseball to Baltimore, where the game has been popular, particularly under the management of St. Louis native Earl Weaver.

Weaver never made it to the big leagues as a player, even though I thought he was a cinch to make it after seeing him play brilliantly for the Beaumont High Blue-jackets on Natural Bridge from 1945-47. He had everything, for a little man, that is. He was a better hitter than Eddie Stanky, he could field better than most, and he loved the game. He lived in my neighborhood in north St. Louis around Grand and Kossuth, on the Lee Line.

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

But back to Veeck. I, like most American baseball fans, loved him for his great ideas. However, it wasn't his special days or the wonderful fireworks that attracted me most. But two other ideas, if I were forced to, would get my vote as the most brilliant.

No. 1 was his signing of another former Chicagoan, one Edward Carl (Eddie) Gaedel, to a Browns' contract for a single game on a Sunday in 1951. It was a complete surprise to the public as well as the writers in the press box.

Gaedel was a midget, standing barely to the waist of even the smallest regular. He was 26 years old and wore the number 1/8 on his jersey. And, as I remember, he handled the bat, which was a cut-down version of a Louisville Slugger, expertly.

Funny thing, it hadn't occurred to me to check in the official baseball record book to ascertain whether his appearance at the plate had become a part of baseball lore.

Sure enough, it is. According to the 1965 "The Official Encyclopedia of Baseball," he batted once that day and registered forever, as long as baseball is played, with a .000 batting average. He walked on four pitches and was removed for a pinch-runner, never to play again.

My No. 2 favorite of Veeck's many scintillating ideas was his decision to serve a regular meal to people in the press box between games of a doubleheader. The regular fare of major league press boxes can hardly be beaten. Their hot dogs are straight from heaven. And the hamburgers are unbelievably heavenly, served with what is known as Georgia onions, a delicious sweet version of onion which can't be beaten.

The first time Veeck had the meal served, the menu featured sweet corn on the cob, and Dizzy Dean, who then was broadcasting both the Cardinals' and Browns' games, ate enough roasted ears to kill an average man.

Dead this past year, Bill Veeck gave baseball more than he got from it, even though that was a lot. One thing is for sure: Up there in Baseball Heaven, I'll bet some coin of the realm that Veeck has organized a game of "troublers."
